JACK THOMSEN HOISTED himself up the mast of the trimaran "Marjorie D." recently constructed by Tom McKiernon of Carmel Valley. The craft was transported down the Valley road to Monterey Bay. Thomsen stepped the mast after the trimaran was in the water and then went up it to do the rigging. He made another trip up the 34 foot mast later. (See picture story on Page 20 and 21.)

White Oaks 'Bid Along' raises $7,500 with alot of fun too

The White Oaks Theatre Bid-Along last Friday night turned out to be one of the most fun and exciting events held around here for many a month, according to comments from a great many of the guests.

Bidding started off rather conservatively, but tension and competitive spirits soon grabbed hold as bid after bid was recorded on the tally cards. Final tabulating of the bids showed $7,500 in the kitty.

As Frank Crispo announced that last two minutes of bidding, some almost came to friendly blows as they tried to outbid each other.

Frank was having a bit of a war, himself, with his brother Sal from Phoenix as the two bid against each other on a number of art objects. The Tang horse and the large hanging wine decanter, the hand-carved Mediterranean candle holder and the Ansel Adams photograph were object of furious bidding. Frank got the Ansel Adams photo, but Sal got the Tang horse.

Carolina Winslow squealed with delight as her husband presented her with the cultured pearls, while clutching the Litton Co. stock in his hand. (He works for Litton).

The Stephen Thigpens bought the mutual funds for their brand new daughter, Jennifer, and two nights at the Carmel Valley Inn and the champagne dinner at Los Laureles Lodge for themselves. They also purchased the $100 certificate from the Pampered Hamper Carlin Boutique.

Clive and Sallie Rayne went the party route with the reception for 50 at Lou's Casa Carmela and monthly dinners at Will's Fargo.

Dick Thornburg will be taking off for a duck and pheasant shoot at Sutter Basin and Ted Taylor will be taking the trip down the Arroyo Seco River.

Two Valley men will be well-clothed as Frank Sclawy walked off with the Hickey Freeman suit and George Clifford with another from Dick Bruhn's Men's Store.

Dressing up their homes were the John Pomeroy's who took the walnut and rosewood mirror and bench from Carmel Home Furnishings and Ralph Drummond who had high bid on the umbrella table and chairs.

Mr. and Mrs. William Gundelfinger of Pebble Beach started trying out the velvet-covered Victorian chairs from Swans' almost before they had wrenched the final bid from another couple.

A New York visitor, Ted Axel, purchased the Dick Crispo painting and the tennis racket from Gardiner's Tennis Ranch while his hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Art Levy from Carmel Valley, went home with the stereo.

The champagne flowed freely and the Outrigger's hot hors d'oeuvres were delicious...and the general consensus was that the Bid-Along was a howling success!

Advisory Board nixes change for Valley Plaza

The Upper Valley Advisory Board denied approval recommendation for a zoning change to Robert Bolman for the Valley Plaza Shopping Center. The requested change from a C-1-D-P to a PC zone would have permitted a possible loss of control over use of the commercial property, according to the board.

The board was reluctant to part with any control which it might have over design and usage of the property on the corner of Ford and Carmel Valley Roads.

Under the Planned Commercial zoning, a number of usages are permitted without a separate use permit. The building area is limited to 25% of the building site, with a minimum of 65% parking and 10% landscaping. In a C-1-D-P zone, the area is also limited by virtue of the parking requirements for such a center.

Hyatt House initiates Hard Hat members

ter, but such businesses as a service station would require a use permit.

A request for the temporary on-site sign at the shopping center was not approved by the board because of excessive size.

The existing sign of the Little European Restaurant was also nixed because it does not conform by hanging out over the parking area.

Signs which were approved were those at the Hodge Podge Tea Room, Dr. Holine's and House of Pizza.

A three year extension was recommended for the School of Non-Violence whose use permit expires this week.

Study weighs all year school in Carmel Unified School Dist.

All-year-school for Carmel District schools is unlikely, results from a study by a committee named by the school board suggest.

This was the indication in a talk by Assistant Supt. of Schools Dan Yurkovich to Carmel Valley Kiwanis Club last week, Tuesday, at Rippling River Resort.

Dick Darragh of Del Monte Properties was initiated into Kiwanis by past president Lou Allaire.

The committee, which was named at the suggestion of Dr. Hilton Bialek, board member, has had a total of 19 meetings during the past year. Yurkovich, who was introduced by Principal Orville Rogers of Carmel Middle School, a member of the CV Kiwanis, was the school administration's representative.

NOT NEW

All-year-school operation is not new, Yurkovich reported: It was inaugurated in 1904 in Bluffton, Ind., and during World War I was tried in about a dozen places throughout the country. By 1925 this number had doubled.

Major cities trying all-year-school included Newark, N.J., from 1912 to 1931 and Nashville, Tenn., from 1924 to 1932. The depression wiped out most these efforts, he said.

Contrary to general opinion, all-year-school operation is more costly, Yurkovich said the committee discovered. The situation where it might cost less might be where double sessions are under way, he said.

Other costs more than offset savings from building construction. These are larger staffs and transportation expenses.

Where all-year-school was tried and dropped, reasons included not only added costs but that parents in general didn't like it and many students graduated too soon.

STAFFING PROBLEM

In a smaller district like Carmel's, special problems would arise, Yurkovich declared. Staffing and scheduling specialized classes, such as German, computer math, - which have fewer students than normal, - would be more costly if extra teachers had to be hired to carry through a summer session, he explained. Vacation-planning by families is also complicated by sports activities, because some students, who are enthusiastic about a sport, won't want to leave.

Cost of transportation, unusually costly in the huge Carmel district, would also go up. The Carmel district has 594 square miles, compared to six square miles for Pacific Grove, Dan Yurkovich pointed out, necessitating hauling children 39 miles down Carmel Valley and from Southern Big Sur.

He cited the teacher-shortage as another stumbling block for success of all-year-school, assuming the staff would have to be enlarged. The Los Angeles school system, for example, he said, could absorb all new teachers graduated from California colleges and universities next year. Seattle right now needs 52 kindergarten teachers.

"We couldn't even hire an elementary school counselor at $11,000 who would have been paid by the federal government, even though I contacted 170 colleges last summer," Yurkovich said.

How to divide the year would be a question, he commented, because the state requires 175 days of school a year. Possibilities include the quarter system as at UC or Stanford, the tri-mester which would have to be staggered to get in 175 days of schooling, or a summer-elective program. There are state minimum qualifications for graduation, which limit flexibility, he added.

ADVANTAGES

Advantages cited by Yurkovich include better building-utilization, improved learning for students who would get more schooling, probable smaller classes which, in particular, should help "gifted students" in special programs. Special school facilities, including libraries, shop, music, art, would be relieved of present pressure, he said.

Teachers should have more time to give to gathering material and improving their own specialties in the year-around school, Yurkovich said.

In spite of the problems, the idea is not being eliminated in California, according to the speaker. A pilot program is scheduled in the Hayward district. The Los Angeles school district spent a great deal of money on a 12-year study of the subject.

Lexington, Ky., after trying all-year education for 10 years, dropped the program in 1959.

EDITORIAL

Most responsible organizations up and down the state are urging "No" votes on Proposition 9. This is the "Watson Property Tax Limitation" measure, which would unrealistically limit property taxes, without considering substitute tax planning to support local governments.

The wide-spectrum of groups warning against Prop. 9's disastrous effects include chamber of commerces, city councils, labor unions, school boards and teacher organizations.

Although the California Taxpayers' Association has issued two publications reaffirming its stand against Prop. 9, the Monterey Peninsula Taxpayers Association has come out for it. Noted for its sledge-hammer approach to tax problems, an endorsement of the local "Taxpayers' Association," whose membership is narrow and limited, should be a warning to step up efforts to kill Prop. 9.

Perhaps the most meaningful of the many local voices raised against Prop. 9 is that of State Senator Donald L. Grunsky. He calls it "a trap to shift taxes, not tax relief."

Sen. Grunsky is a member of the Senate Revenue and Taxation committee, so speaks with unusual authority. "Prop. 9 falsely promises relief to the small homeowner," he explained. "However, only 30% of the total property in California is owned by small homeowners. The 70% is represented by large landowners and speculators."

"Yet, it is the small homeowner who would bear the burden of the tax shift - the working man and the senior citizen - who pays 70% of the sales taxes which would have to be spectacularly increased if local budgets were ever to be properly balanced again."

Sen. Grunsky pointed out that the Legislature will be forced to turn to sales tax and income tax to replace property tax revenues if Prop. 9 passes. "Tax analysts report the rate of sales tax will have to be raised to an unrealistic 12 or 13 cents," he warned. He added that the necessity of broadening the tax base would require removal of exemptions now granted on food, gasoline, drugs and services.

State income tax, our local state senator emphasized, would also likely be doubled or tripled.

As a feasible alternative Prop. 1A will also be offered the voters next Tuesday. This would exempt from taxation $750 of the assessed valuation of owner-occupied dwellings. The state would give local government funds equal to loss of revenue resulting from this exemption.

Prop. 1A further would eliminate taxes on household furnishings and businessmen will gain a 15% reduction in inventory taxes.

As Prop. 9 has generated wide alarm and opposition, Prop. 1A has earned broad support. Sen. Grunsky adds his voice to the support of Prop. 1A.

Prop. 3, the California College Bond ballot proposal, is another with bi-partisan support. Even Rafferty and Cranston, Gov. Reagan and Jesse Unruh agree that Prop. 3 is necessary and wise for the continued support of our institutions of higher learning. Approval of Prop. 3 is of major importance.

We recommend NO on 9; YES on 1A; and YES on 3.

TO THE EDITOR

Letter to the Editor:

A bouquet should be given to the honest people at the Rippling River Ranch.

When Mrs. Mummert's luncheon guests brought their yappy little dog with them, he promptly took off after Mrs. M's timid little pet duck.

Fortunately she had just learned to fly, so she took off for the wide blue yonder across Holman Road. Mrs. M spent an hour sleuthing, knocking at doors and asking if anybody had seen a black and white duck.

The cooperation received was excellent and when boys on Flight Road said they had seen Duckie heading across the highway, her heart sank.

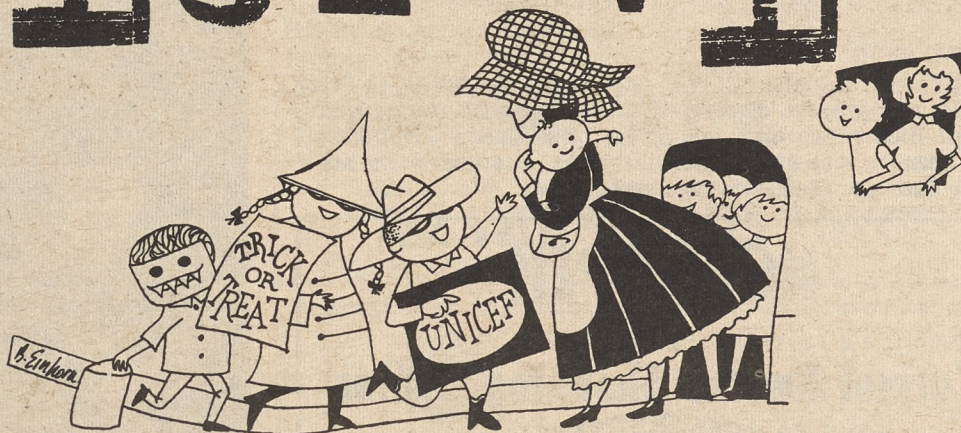

But as a final try, she went to Rippling River to request that if a tired little duck came to their pond for a drink to please phone.

She then plodded home and was greeted by the joyful news that Duckie was at Rippling River and all we had to do was go down and catch her.

This done, Duckie now has her wings clipped and is learning how to put up with the Drake in a pen.

Many, many thanks to R.R.R. for not putting her in a pot for duck dinner.

Mrs. Sterling Mummert

EFFECTIVENESS

No matter what your age, your years exceed
The span of life of millions now long gone.
Some died at birth, while some were later freed
From solving all of life's phenomenon.

While youth may think of death as far away,
The elderly count each new day a gift;
But blest indeed is he at work or play
Who treasures moments spent in terms of thrift.

For who can tell which moment is his last,
Though plans for years ahead are overdue;
Since no one ever can undo the past
What better time than now to start anew?

This present hour consider as the first
Of all of life to come, and make it count;
For time rolls on and never is reversed,
So what we do with now is paramount.

Each thought, each deed, decisions that we make
Should emphasize an understanding sense.
Though time is short, do well for doing's sake
That worthiness creates our monuments.

Happy faces prevailed at the White Oaks Bid-Along

ABOVE

ROGER WINSLOW fastens the cultured pearls around his wife Caroline's neck after they had put in the high bid for them at the White Oaks Theatre Bid-Along Friday night.

ABOVE RIGHT

SALLY RAYNE (MRS. CLIVE) was almost as tickled as Frank Sclawy was when he discovered he had made the winning bid for a new Hickey Freeman suit at the Bid-Along. Frank and his wife Jeanine were among many that came in costume to the affair at the Outrigger Restaurant on Cannery Row.

Stirrup Cup held up at gun point

The Stirrup Cup Cocktail Lounge in Carmel Valley Village was held up and robbed at gunpoint Sunday night by a young man known to the bartender who was preparing to close just before 2 a.m.

Pearl (Larry) Chandlee was locking up for the night when the only patron pulled out a gun and ordered him to open up the safe. To show him that the gun was loaded, the man fired a shot into the ceiling beam. Chandlee went to the safe, handing over $507.26.

The gunman threatened to kill Chandlee if he resisted and made him leave the bar and walk down along the Carmel River through the underbrush, prodding and threatening him all the way.

He then forced the bartender back to the Stirrup Cup, picked up a six-pack of beer and ordered him to drive him to San Francisco.

Chandlee refused to drive any further after reaching Marina, pleading his car wouldn't make it to San Francisco and that he was too tired to drive.

The young man then made him drive back into Monterey where he let Chandlee go after he got out near Larkin and Jefferson Streets.

Chandlee called Harvey Deal, owner of the bar, and reported the robbery.

The Sheriff's Dept. is not releasing the name of the suspect although he was known to Chandlee. He was said to be in a highly emotional state and "considered dangerous" by the Sheriff's Dept.

At latest report yesterday, he had not yet been apprehended.

Good acting, shallow plot in Simon play

"Star Spangled Girl" is one play that author Neil Simons should have left out to pasture for a while to fatten it up. Only by excellent and determined acting on the parts of the three characters in the new Studio Theatre play, does the frail fabric of the story hold together.

Beau Stark as Andy Hobart, Rick Poe as Norman Cornell and Toni MacDonald as Sophie Rauschmeyer keep it light and fun and entertaining, but they can't do much about the fact that it's a pretty shallow story with which to work.

"Star Spangled Girl" is the story of two young men, brilliant former college classmates who write and publish a protest magazine called "Fallout." Into their lives (into the vacant next door apartment) walks Sophie, fresh, all-American (southern accent type) Olympic swimmer, flag-waving blond super-patriot.

Andy and Norman are dedicated relentlessly to the exposure of corruption in all phases of present day existence. But they hadn't counted on their reactions: 1) to Sophie, and 2) to each other in these circumstances.

Dedication alters and almost falters, and friendship becomes a tenuous thing. While Sophie never ceases to be red, white and blue, her motivation also changes.

As we said, the three do an exceptional job. There are some good lines and some good laughs, but it definitely is not the best of Neil Simon. However director Dave Kirk has pulled every inch possible out of the play...and it is good entertainment. In his usual inimitable way, Bob Evans has done a superb job with the set...and props.

The audience laughed liberally because the timing and the strength of the acting carried it.

Film on Nile at Sunset Nov. 6

National Geographic photographer, Captain Irving Johnson, will appear in person at 8:15 p.m., Wednesday, Nov. 6, in Sunset Auditorium to narrate his feature-length color travel and adventure film, "Yankee Sails the Nile".

Captain Johnson has made a career of voyaging under sail. He and his wife have written seven books and have become internationally known for their articles in National Geographic Magazine.

His audience will sail aboard the specially built ketch Yankee through an area with a culture some 6000 years old, from the Sudan to the Mediterranean.

The film contains the last photographs taken of Abu Sibel before it was dismantled to make way for Egypt's new Aswan Dam. Other highlights include El Alamein Battle-ground, Nubia, Gizeh and the Great Pyramid, Cairo and Alexandria.

Chelsea Arts Ball at Beach Club Fri.

Invitations are in the mail for the Chelsea Arts Ball West to be held at the Beach and Tennis Club, Friday, November 1. In addition to Club members a large group of leading artists on the Monterey Peninsula will participate in this gala event.

According to the invitation "colorful costumes are mandatory before midnight" - after this deadline who cares? Music will be supplied by the Jaguars.

Photo contest at next Padre Club meeting

A photo contest is scheduled by the Padre Trails Camera Club Thursday at 8 p.m., Nov. 7, meeting in Brey Hall, Carmel High School.

Following the contest, Dr. Willis Basye will present the winners of the 1968 nature essay contest, from the Photographic Society of America annual convention. Visitors are welcome.

Fifth graders take Point Lobos field trip

Fifth grade students at Carmel Middle School had a beautiful day for their field trip to Point Lobos recently. The trip was planned as a part of the earth-science class by science teachers Roland Schut, Howard Janssen and Miss Elsa Burkhardt.

Rock formations and the effect of weathering were studied by the students. Along Sea Lion Point trail beautiful conglomerate formations, layers of sedimentary rock, faulting and folding, and erosion patterns were discovered by the youngsters. The sea lions and otters lent musical accompaniment as they noted the kelp, algae and sea palms.

ROBIN MORRIS AND JULIO JENKINS study an interesting conglomerate of the Carmelo formation at Point Lobos Park.

The second part of the trip took the students through Cypress Grove where they saw different kinds of lichen and mosses growing on the cypress trunks and outcroppings of very old Lucia granite.

Mmes. Hall, Spear, Goodwin, Mystrom, Masten, Zaches, Olivier, Wangee and Mr. Irwin, all fifth grade parents, went along to chaperone the group.

Orchid wins top award in show

Rear Admiral and Mrs. C.E. Dickinson's orchid entry of "BLC Golden Slippers 'Helen'" in the annual show of the California Orchid Society was adjudged the best Cattleya orchid at the meeting in Oakland, Saturday, October 19.

A beautiful concolor yellow, it was awarded the Nancy Ann Abbott perpetual trophy for the best individual Cattleya flower, open class, in the show.

Besides possession of the above trophy for the next year, the Dickinsons were given a beautiful bowl as a permanent reminder.

The American Orchid Society granted the entry a Highly Commended Certificate with a score of 79 points.

There were over 200 entries that were judged and nearly 250 persons attended the annual dinner.

New Valleyites become super scoopers at Carmel Rancho

Two of the best-educated ice-cream scoopers in the country Mr. and Mrs. James R. Green, proprietors of the new Baskins-Robbins "31 Flavors" ice cream store which has just opened in the new addition of the Rancho Shopping Center at the mouth of Carmel Valley.

Jim and Nancy Green both have masters' degrees. Hers is from UC at Santa Barbara, preceded by undergraduate work at Cal Poly. His is from USC and his bachelor's degree was earned at the University of Cincinnati.

They met in Berlin where he was in the U.S. Army and she was a professional ice skater with Sonja Heine on tour.

They have been living in Carmel Valley for the past year while Jim was resident engineer on the COMSAT construction job in Cachagua for the architectural-engineering firm of Holmes & Narver.

"After a year in Carmel Valley, we decided that this was the place to stay," Jim Green said. "We started looking around for something else to do and the opportunity offered with a Baskins-Robbins ice cream store was the answer."

He retired about a year ago from the Army as a major. Before coming to Carmel Valley, he had been for seven years the Army engineer in charge of major construction of new ballistic and space facilities at Vandenberg Air Base.

The Greens, who are living on Lilac Lane, have three sons all going to different local schools: Philip, 14 is a freshman at Carmel High; Scott, 12, is in Middle School; and Carl, 10, at Tulare City.

The Greens' Baskin-Robbins ice cream store is located on the south side of the new Rancho Shopping Center addition, which is adjacent to the present Safeway Store.

Brinton's 'Remarkable Hardware' to give many gifts for Grand Opening

This weekend and through next

Grand-opening of Brinton's vastly enlarged hardware store is scheduled this coming weekend and will extend all next week and through the following weekend.

Festivities will begin with a ribbon-cutting ceremony with County Supervisor Willard Branson, a Carmel Valley resident, doing the honors Saturday at 10 a. m.

Other officials have been invited, including Mayor Bernard Laiolo of Carmel and Pres. Tom Bottaro of Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce.

MANY PRIZES

Prizes and more prizes will be the happy order of the day during the gala grand opening.

This Saturday and Sunday useful and tasty grand prizes will top the list. These include two Faberware rotisseries with actual cooked turkeys on them, one to be given on Saturday and one on Sunday. Grand prizes also include two special packages for a lady and one for her husband. Complete Fieldcrest bedroom sets, including sheets, pillow cases, blanket and bedspread and a Fieldcrest set for the bathroom: complete set of matching towels, shower curtain and rugs.

The man's special grand prize is a box of home-utility tools, everything from an electric drill to saw, hammer, screw driver, etc.

Additional door prizes will be given away every half hour during the big event.

HOLIDAY OPEN HOUSE

"We're also celebrating our 7th traditional Holiday Season Open House during this grand opening celebration," Richard Brinton enthused. "You'll enjoy our beautiful Christmas tree and exhibit."

Brinton's Hearth Shop unique

THE HEARTH SHOP in Brinton's is just one reason it's called "The Remarkable Hardware". Emit Cattone, who heads the department and a number of others, stands by the life-like fireplace and screen displays, which makes selection of just the right equipment an easy accomplishment.

RICHARD BRINTON

Richard Brinton served in father's hardware in San Jose before opening own in Rancho Center

Although Richard Brinton still thinks of his "Remarkable Hardware" as a "family business", the big hardware has flourished far beyond concept of an old fashioned hardware with nails and tools and paints and the smell of an oil stove in the rear.

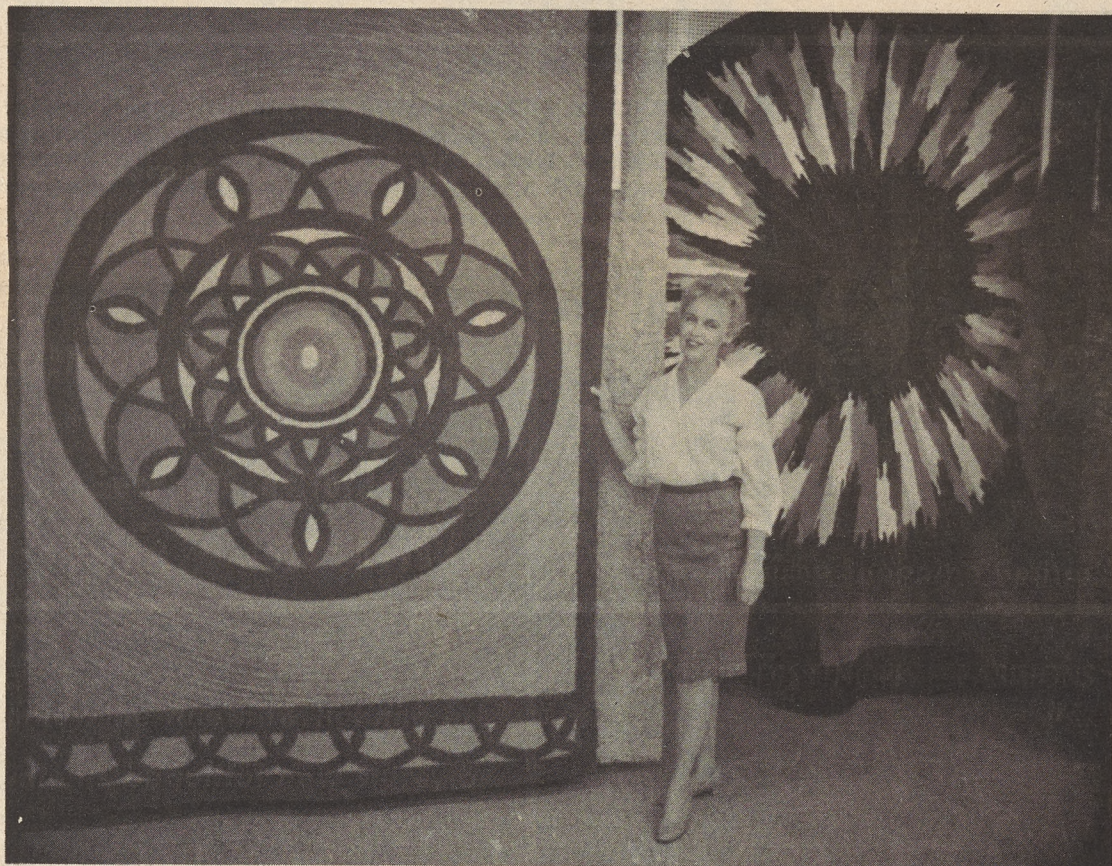

Rich, as he's generally called, is sole owner of the store, but it's a family affair which involves his father and mother. The senior Brinton, Joe, was on the verge of retirement after some 40 years in the hardware business, chiefly at his old store in the Willow Glen area of San Jose. But it didn't take long for him to get tired of complete retirement, and Brinton Senior joined his son, working in the Rancho store and enlarging the builders' hardware department.

Richard's mother is also active in the business, and has headed the bookkeeping.

Richard's wife, Mary Ann, has good reason not to be active in the store, for their MARKING ITS 7TH YEAR, Brinton's Remarkable Hardware has grown into the largest store of its kind on the Monterey Peninsula. And its dedicated staff has grown with the size and service offered by the beautiful new store. A show-place of its kind, it is earning a reputation as a model store. The large staff, posing in front of the new rug department, includes, back row from left: Shirley Frazer, Anna Vreeland, Karen Kaller, Charlotte Golden, Joseph Brinton, Mrs. Joseph Brinton, Richard Brinton, Kathy McGoughey, Nancy Trueblood, Frieda Washmirth, Robert W. Washmirth. Front row: Chase Conley, Kenneth Bliesner, Roger Cannon, Emil Cattone, Alan Dietrick, Avard Brinton. Not shown is Patti Brinsmead.

THE RUG THEATRE, something new and special at Brinton's enlarged hardware, is glimpsed above with Charlotte Golden, manager of the Rug Theatre, and several other departments including Linen Chest, Gifts, and House Wares.

NEW AUTOMOTIVE DEPT., shown at right, is another innovation at Brinton's Remarkable Hardware. Here is Alan Dietrick, manager of the new Automotive Dept. and an expert in the line.

two small pre-school children David and Craig keep her occupied. Before the birth of David, she was home economics teacher at Carmel High.

And she is active in other groups on the Peninsula, serving with the Symphony Guild and Children's Home Society.

Whenever they can find time away from busy schedules, the Brintons skip off to their other home at Lake Tahoe for snow sports in the wintertime. They are also sailing enthusiasts and Mary Ann is an avid tennis player and swimmer.

Hardware grew and grew, and now has expanded into the former Safeway location next door.

A variety of tastefully decorated and laid-out departments cover nearly an acre of floor space. A few of the handsome new departments include rugs, stereo and hi fi, automotive, a vastly enlarged builders' hardware with its separate display room, a large display of individually built-in fireplaces with accessories. Others include linen closet, hand power tools, kitchen cupboard, gifts.

PERSONAL SERVICE

Rich Brinton, one of the busiest men in the area, serves in organizations in both Carmel Valley and Carmel. He is a member of Carmel Rotary, and second vice president of Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce.

"Our philosophy is to keep our store friendly and helpful," said Brinton. "Our success is due to long experience in quality lines of merchandise and emphasis on personal service to customers."

OPENED IN 1962

Richard Brinton opened his hardware in the Rancho Shopping Center in 1962. Behind him was a great deal of experience in the business.

He had assisted in his father's San Jose store from the time he was nine years old. And he majored in business administration at San Jose State, then worked two years full time in his father's store.

GOODBYE, MR. MEAGER

Many parties were planned so that neighbors and friends could bid goodbye to Mr. John Meager of Rancho Road, who has been a Valley resident for many years and who has sold his home and departed last week to spend several months with relatives and friends in England and Ireland. A neighborhood party was given by Capt. (ret.) and Mrs. George Clifford, and dinner parties were given by Mr. J. Carol Dunbar, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hughes and Mr. and Mrs. Franz Buimiller. Mr. Meager plans to reside somewhere on the Peninsula when he returns to the States.

MRS. GILL IS 94

Cards, flowers, a big birthday cake, and a dinner party helped to make a special day for a very special lady who celebrated her 94th birthday on Flight Road. Mrs. Kate Gill was honored by her daughter, Mrs. Phillip Walker, on her day with a party and remembered by many admirers. Among those attending the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dick, Mrs. Jean Malek and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Anthony.

ARMY DISCHARGE

Staff Sergeant Whitaker is now Mr. Ross Whitaker following his army discharge. Ross who just returned from Germany, spent two weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Walker and brother, Dirk, before leaving to make his home in southern California. He accepted a position near Newport Beach.

ST. DUNSTAN PARTY

Small pumpkins from Luis Wolters' Punkin' Patch with cat faces and bonnets of autumn leaves were the center pieces presented as table prizes at the Benefit Bridge and Canasta party sponsored by St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church.

A Hallowe'en theme carried through the table mats, tallies, and even the dessert for the October affair held in the Casa Fiesta Room of the Hacienda Carmel. Hostesses to the 48 ladies in attendance were Mrs. Watson Luke, Mrs. A.C. Craven and Mrs. Phillip Walker.

Table prizes were won by Mmes. Jo Anlott, Esther Price, JoAnne Peterson, Elbert Wade, Flo Holm, Leslie Smith, Isabelle Townsend, Dorothy Wagenman, Alice Ringheim, Vera Stokes, Peter De Haas and George Compas.

Mrs. Jo Anlott won the high for Bridge, Ruth Wade second high and Vera Stokes took the prize for canasta.

Mrs. Daniel Coleman brought as her guests from Carmel, Mrs. Anlott and Mrs. M. Balasius.

The next party has been scheduled for January at the Presidio in Monterey. Mrs. Thomas Christian will be hostess assisted by Mrs. Charlotte Spangler and Mrs. Phillip Walker. Reservations may be made by phoning Mrs. Walker, 659-2280.

NEW NEIGHBORS

New neighbors on Lilac Lane are Mr. and Mrs. Vic Harber who with children Jeanine and Jeff have purchased the George Jennings home. Susie and Vic formerly made their home in Hitchcock Canyon.

Post cards from former Outlook advertising manager, George Jennings, tells friends that he and his wife Evelyn and children Bobbie, Carol and Annie arrived safely in Chicago and are busy getting settled in a home which they have purchased in Woodridge, Illinois.

DOBERMAN FANS

Two guests were registered from Carmel Valley at the Continental Huston while attending the 43rd annual Specialty and Obedience Trials of the Doberman Pinscher Club of America.

Mrs. E.A. Kamerer of Poppy Road and her daughter Mrs. Nancy Hogans of Holman Road, drove to Texas for the canine classic which saw the Specialty Show won for the second year in a row by Chm. Sultana V. Marienburg of Sun Valley, Calif. The Valleyites had a marvelous time, saw many friends from all over the United States, and stopped in San Antonio where they saw the Hemisfair and were houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Doug Mueller, Jr.

FIFTH BIRTHDAY

Dorrie Lee Draper (who says that when she gets her girl she is going to feed her pizza three times a day) celebrated her fifth birthday Oct. 24 with a pizza dinner party in Monterey!

She was accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Draper, her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Linares, and Diane McKenzie, Elaine Washington, Scarlett Hattan and Dorrie's brothers and sisters - Peggy, Kathy, Kim, Steven, and Don Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Linares moved from the Village Manor Apartments to a new home in New Monterey last week so the celebrants were all invited to share Dorrie's birthday cake there afterwards, - the cake topped with five pink ballerinas and candles.

Robert Whiteman is member of the Peace Corps in Peru

Robert B. Whiteman, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles William Whiteman of 24 Middle Canyon Road, Carmel Valley, has recently been named a Peace Corps Volunteer after completing ten weeks of training in Toluca, Mexico, and four weeks of further preparation in Peru.

He is one of 41 volunteers who will work with Peruvian Government agencies toward the development of local agricultural production and the improvement of food consumption.

Robert attended Monterey Peninsula College for two years and is a graduate of U.C. Santa Cruz with a B.A. degree. His major field of study was geography and anthropology.

During training he studied language, livestock raising, agricultural techniques and the

A "HIPPIE" ART LOVER

The Zantman Art Galleries in Carmel welcome art lovers of all persuasions. Recently a couple in standard "far out" attire entered, viewed the current Robert Rishell show and then came upon a painting by Valley artist, Eugene Baker. Just what the bearded gentleman had been looking for, but drat the luck he had no money, no identification and could he please borrow a counter check and have his purchase crated before he returned for it?

Much to the gallery staff's surprise when they called the bank, they found that the "Hippie" who digs knighthood, chivalry and Eugene Baker was none other than the singing sensation (and new Peninsula resident) Johnny Rivers!

Middle School students in political talks

The stream-lined readers, a gifted reading class at Carmel Middle School, under the direction of Miss Jo Brazell, will host the final political campaign rally at Brey Hall, Carmel High School, on election eve, Monday Nov. 4 at 7 p.m.

These students have been studying the spoken and written word, fact and opinion, and propaganda in connection with the election.

On Monday they will assume the roll of the leading candidates and give speeches.

The public is invited. Who knows - maybe you'll get that final answer to help make an important choice on Nov. 5.

Change in time for social dancing

Larry Pelligrini, instructor for the class in Social Dance scheduled at the Carmel Valley Community Center each Monday evening, announces a time change.

In order to give couples with children more time for their dinner hour the classes will begin at 8 p.m. Sessions are open to everyone.

Hallowee'n in Russia display at Bagatelle

A view of Hallowee'n in old Russia is on display in the window of The Bagatelle Shop next to the post office in Carmel Valley Village.

It is the creation of Mrs. V. Vernon of the shop which specializes in exotic pastries, candies and other goodies.

Although Mrs. Vernon has been in her adopted America for 46 years, her memories are vivid of folk and fairy tales of old Russia.

Halloween in Russia didn't come at the end of October, as here, but on June 24 when St. John the Baptist day was also celebrated.

Ancient Russian traditions involving witches, devils and other spooks were closely related to those of Scandinavian countries and Ireland, she pointed out. Russians and people of these countries were sun worshippers, she added.

June 24 was the day that witches and evil spirits came out of hiding and had a convention on Bald Mountain, as Mrs. Vernon recalled.

Little costumed doll-figures in the scene in The Bagatelle window represent a number of Russian Halloween-ish characters.

There's a witch up high who is riding a mortar and pestle which, according to Mrs. Vernon, was supposed to be used for pushing her way through the forest. The witch also carries a broom which was for sweeping the trees back into place after plowing through.

Worst of all Russian devils was a big bearded fellow "Kostyuy," who sits in the middle of the display. "He's the papa of all the trouble makers," Mrs. Vernon said. "He was the one in the Fire Bird Suite who took the beautiful girls to the top of the mountain and turned them into birds."

On the left in the display is another "mean character, Leshey," the spirit of the forest, "Help...help!"

The white-haired villain on the right in the model is "Vodianoy," who sucked victims down through a whirlpool into slavery.

Somewhat encouraging are the two ravens who, in spite of being melancholy, offered good advice.

Another character, who was not really bad, according to Mrs. Vernon, but just a prankster, is a short, clean-shaven elf called "Housman." "He was a prankster and liked to braid horses' tails," she said. "A male goat was usually kept in the stable to frighten away this elf."

Play Review

ried the humor with added emphasis. Rick Poe's portrayal of Norman was particularly strong in voice inflection and movement.

It takes a good team to entertain an audience with a gossamer play...and the Studio has that team in the cast of "Star Spangled Girl!"

"Star Spangled Girl" will play Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings at the Studio Theatre-Restaurant in Carmel.

Sunday night's performance is an hour earlier, at 7:30, with dinner served at 6. We think this is a very smart move of the management. It makes an excellent Sunday treat, but gets you home early enough to be wide awake on Monday morning.

Little Red School House needs restoration fund to survive

The approaching holiday season will find the "Little Red School House" facing extinction, "unless we are able to raise the necessary funds required for an earthquake-proof restoration" according to director Mrs. Rosa Doner.

Although the nursery school (which is properly known as Bay School) has been blessed with many generous contributions, it still has a considerable sum to raise and friends of the school are helping to swell the Restoration

Fund by selling handsome Christmas wreaths.

The wreaths, 20 in. across, are made of Pacific alpine firs decorated with long-needed pine from the Cascade mountains. School mothers will trim the wreaths with ponderosa pine cones and large red sateen water-repellant bows.

Orders would be appreciated by Nov. 5 and may be made by enclosing a check or money order ($3.65 for each wreath) with the coupon below to Bay School Restoration Fund, Rt. 3, Box 120, Carmel 93921.

All star Peninsula cast readies 'First Lady' for Nov. performances

"First Lady", now in rehearsal with an all-star Peninsula cast, has been scheduled for six performances at Sunset Center for the benefit of the National Council on Alcoholism.

Betty Fowlston, Ruth McElroy, Ginny Frank and Bob Heater will head the cast under the direction of producer Sid Frohman of Frohman Productions, who will donate proceeds to the Council. Sets will be designed and constructed by Nick LeFeuvre, Jr.

The comedy by George S. Kaufman and Katherine Dayton, was a Broadway hit of the forties. It has to do with the goings on behind the scenes during a presidential election. First night is set for Nov. 8 at 8:30. Other performances will be given Nov. 15 and 16 with two holiday matinees offered Nov. 10 and 11 at 2:30 p.m. Advance reservations may be made now by calling the Council at 624-2256.

Postponed concert scheduled Sunday

The piano and vocal concert scheduled for last Sunday evening at the Carmel Valley Community Chapel was postponed because of the illness of tenor James Hull.

The concert which was also to feature pianist Paik Park, has now been set for Sunday, Nov. 3 at 8 p.m. It will benefit the Chapel's organ fund.

Chamber meet set Nov. 7th

The board of directors of the Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce will hold its next meeting at Los Laureles Lodge on Thursday, November 7, at noon.

Retired Navy Lt. Cmdr. opens KC's Fixit Shop in Village

R.C. Cayce, who has just opened "KC's Fixit Shop" at No. 4 El Caminito in the Village, back of Henry's Barber Shop, has a long Navy career behind him. He is a retired Lieutenant Commander who fell in love with Carmel Valley while studying at NPGS.

"KC" served in the Pacific area during the War and stayed in the Naval Reserve to be commissioned an Ensign in 1948. He has served as fire control officer and has been a radio and electrical technician in a great many service-capacities. He retired this year after more Pacific service, this time on a transport ship.

His wife, Holly, is an ex-Wave whom he met in Charleston, N.C., when they were both seamen. They were married in Washington, D.C., in 1944. Holly is now a practical nurse.

The Cayce's elder sons, Bob

Jr. and Christopher have followed family tradition: Bob has served almost four years in the Navy and is now employed at Wills Fargo Restaurant while attending Monterey High; and Chris joined the Navy after graduation from Carmel High School. He is now in submarine school.

Daughter Marta Gail is a freshman at Carmel High and son Conrad attends Tulare City.

Lions' cioppino feed coming up

Fisherman's Fiesta (cioppino), scheduled Nov. 9, will not be held at Casa Carmela according to Chairman Tom Bordonaro for Carmel Valley Lions Club, but at a place he will announce. He may be contacted for further information on the event.

Last week's meeting featured committee reports.

Warren Douglas reported on progress on repair of the Village sign.

SPORTS

CHS Football

Carmel High varsity football squad dropped a tough battle with King City 10-6 on the local field Saturday, to net an even-up 2-2 game record to date this season. The Padres stand third in the MTAL.

This Saturday the Padres will host San Lorenzo Valley on the Carmel field, the freshmen clashing at 10:30, JVs at 12:30 and varsity at 2:30.

The Padre JVs were barely nosed out of their game with King City 7-6, while the Carmel frosh went down 26-6.

The Carmel varsity's lone counter was set up by Jim DeAmarel's return to the 40, plus runs by Rick Hall and Mark Spindler and successful passes to Pete Shaw and R. Hall. From the K.C. 15-yard line, Spindler charged through the middle for the TD. Robbie Gimble booted an extra point.

In the JV struggle, Travis Belangee chalked up the Padre's lone TD with a spectacular 83-yard sprint.

For the Carmel frosh, Al Hood made a beautiful catch of a pass from Todd Gebhart for the single touchdown.

CHS Runners

Carmel High cross country runners, showing consistent improvement as the season progresses, scored a healthy second place in a six-school MTAL center meet at York School last Thursday.

Hollister was first with 40 points, Carmel next with 48, Pacific Grove third with 68, King City fourth with 73, Gonzales fifth with 129 and Palma last with no score.

Next on the schedule is a dual meet with Palma on the York School course Oct. 31. This will be followed by the first Peninsula invitational meet Nov. 2 on the Robert Louis Stevenson School course at Pebble Beach.

The first five Carmel runners in the center meet were Matt Ward, first -11:15; Mike Lundblad, second -11:21; Marc Neeson, 11th -12:10; Tom Pelton, 14th -12:14 and Brent Percival, 20th -12:30.

Expressing satisfaction with the meet, Coach Lloyd Baskerville declared that the steady improvement of his Carmel runners is evident from the fact that they moved up from fourth in the first center meet four weeks ago to first in this last meet.

Junior League Next-to-New sale to be Sat.

The fifteenth annual Next-to-New Sale, sponsored by the Junior League of the Monterey Peninsula, Inc., will be held Saturday, November 2, from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Exhibition Hall, Agriculture Building, and the Flower Building of the Monterey County Fairgrounds.

New and nearly-new merchandise of every variety will be offered to the public at less than nominal prices. An expanded furniture department, will feature for the first time a "decorator corner".

Other departments include men's and women's clothing, infant's and children's clothing, shoes, hats, handbags, lingerie, jewelry, notions, linens, books, paintings, records, toys, and games, also appliances, sporting goods and numerous household articles.

CHAIRMEN

Mrs. Laurence Horan of Carmel Valley and Mrs. Kirke Erskine, Carmel, co-chairmen of the November 2 event, will be assisted by Peninsula women: Mrs. Sebastian Bordonaro, assistant treasurer; Mrs. Robert Frost, properties; Mrs. Robert Gay, racks; Mrs. Theodore Beck, new merchandise; Miss Mary Jane Leutzing supplies; Mrs. Robert Priestley, publicity; Mrs. Robert Work, and Mrs. Loran List, decorations; Mrs. Raymond Draper, sustainer co-ordinator; Mrs. Mildred Hall and Mrs. Frank Hebert, snack bar; Mrs. Lewis Fenton, hospitality; Mrs. Edwin Lee and Mrs. Thomas Tonkin, Teenager co-ordinator; and Mrs. Riley Wilson. Carmel Valley women named as department chairmen are: Mrs. John Rushmer and Mrs. Bruce Matson.

A Snack Bar, operating throughout the day will offer donuts, a choice of sandwiches soft drinks, coffee and candy bars to sustain busy shoppers.

The 1968 Next-to-New Sale is the sole fund-raising event of the Junior League this year.

Those projects receiving financial support currently are Children's Theater, Young Artists' Auditions, Youth Concerts, Youth Science Center of Monterey County and the newly created Reality House.

TOM MCKIERNON AND HIS WIFE Marjorie toast the successful journey of the huge trimaran from their Robles del Rio home where it was constructed to the waters of Monterey Bay.

A CARMEL VALLEY BOAT MAKES I

THE TRIP FROM McKiernon's hillside home in Robles del Rio was started at 6 a.m. to avoid traffic on the narrow winding roads. Then the caravan waited in the Village until 9 a.m. when the commuter traffic had subsided to haul the boat into town.

JACK THOMSEN steps the mast aboard the "Marjorie D." After the boat is run under the pier, the mast is lowered down from the wharf. Guide ropes are attached as the butt end is eased into the socket and 30 foot ropes are pulled to raise it. After it was in a vertical position, Jack "sighted the mast" to make sure it was true.

Tom McKiernon builds another trimaran

Building them bigger and better seems to be the motto of Tom McKiernon. At any rate, his newest Trimaran, "The Marjorie D"; measures a whopping 30 feet long and 18 feet wide, compared with his previous 24 foot craft.

Tom has been hard at work on the boat since 1964, spending about 2,000 man hours on it at his home in Robles del Rio.

"Why do I build trimarans? ...Because it is something to do and I enjoy it," he said. Tom is a retired Army captain who for seven years drove the school bus for Tulare County. He left this position, much to the dismay of the children, in 1967. Now his time has been devoted to boat building.

One of the most remarkable features of the boat is the amazing amount of light in the cabins. Different than the conventional sailboat with a dark and dreary cabin and minimum of head room, this light, bright craft of McKiernon's is a complete departure. Windows all the way around give a maximum amount of light and enable the passenger to look out as well.

The Marjorie D carries a mast rising 34 feet above deck and Marconi sloop rigging.

In the main cabin there are two roomy double berths and one extra up front in the forecabin. There is also an aftercabin where there is room for another person to bunk, although sails and other gear will normally be stored there.

Everywhere one turns there is storage space. Each of the two wings which extend out from the cabin carries a tremendous amount of storage space. Under bunk steps, in every nook and cranny there are cabinets to hold gear.

The one thing which McKiernon cautions against however, is overloading. With so much space available it would be an easy thing to do; but just as in the case of an airplane, the balance and weight are very important in the trimaran.

After transporting the trimaran to the yacht harbor at Monterey and launching it, McKiernon now plans on finishing the interior. Cabinet work has already been completed, for the stove, sink and head. Mattresses must be made for the bunks and curtains for the windows and final fittings and equipment must be installed in the navigation center.

The sleek blue and white trimaran is capable of a cruise to Tahiti, Tom McKiernon said, but he and his wife Marjorie will probably content themselves with coastal cruising. It will be about thirty days before the Marjorie D - named in typical Portuguese seafaring fashion after the wife of the family - will be ready for a prolonged cruise.

And then watch her skim the waves as she heads out of Monterey Harbor!

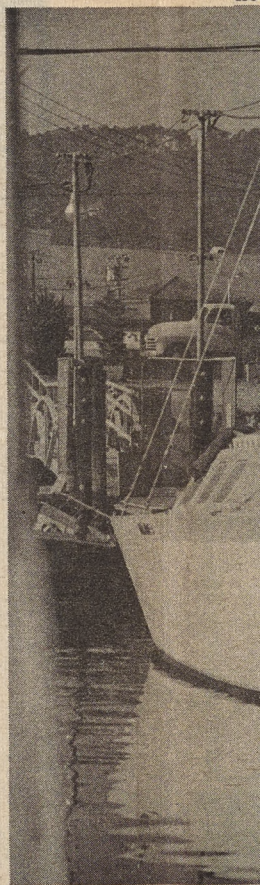

A HIGH WHEELED tractor (out of sight about 100 feet up the beach) was used to put the boat trailer in the water. Moving toward the Bay at about 15 miles per hour, the tractor continued into the water till it started spraying from the exhaust. The trailer was then let loose on a cable and continued into the water until the boat floated free. The launch was made at 10:40 a.m. just as the tide began to ebb.

THE MARJORIE D. began on this work table in Tom's back yard as he poured over the plans which he had purchased. This was four years and 2,000 man hours ago.

JUST GETTING THE CRAFT from its blocks onto the trailer and balanced for travel was quite a job in itself. McKiernon hired a professional mover to handle this. Glen L. Cluster of Watsonville says he'll move anything from buildings to boats. The 30 foot craft was escorted on its journey by a California Highway Patrol car. All went so smoothly that traffic was never held up more than a couple of minutes.

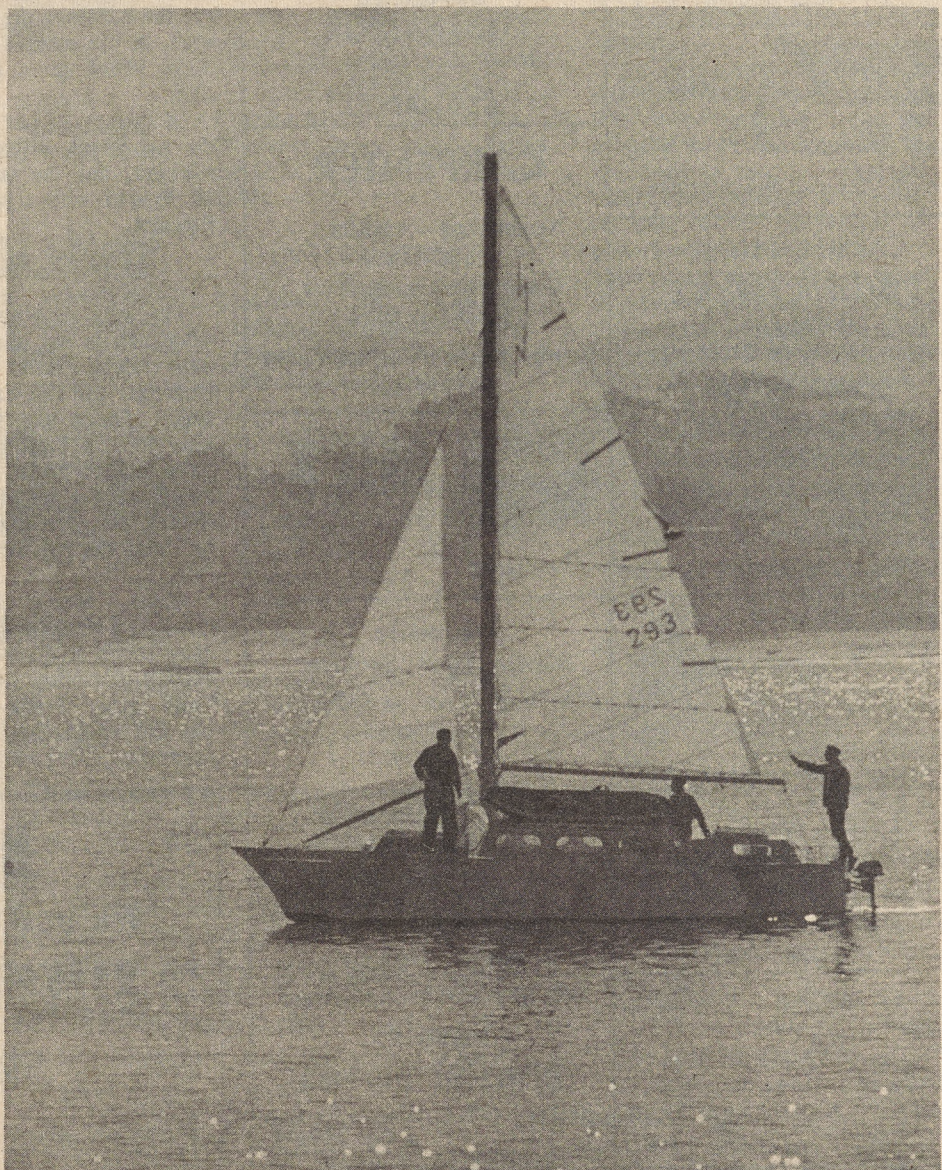

ESTLED AT THE PIER in Monterey harbor, the Marjorie D. gets a new hairdress as owner-builder Tom McKiernon, Walter Nanney and Jack Thomsen put up the sails.

LOOKING VERY MUCH the part of an old sea dog, Tom coils rope aboard his new trimaran. He said that when Jack Thomsen hoisted himself up the 34 foot mast (see picture on page 1) he couldn't watch, so he got very busy coiling rope until Jack got down.

THE MARJORIE D. made a serene exit out of the harbor, heading for her permanent berth at Elkhorn Slough.

PLANT PLUMBING

When household plumbing is clogged, a plumber will be called to clear the pipes, with his "snake", of accumulated debris. So far, no such tools were discovered to clear the conducting elements of a plant after it has been invaded by a soil fungus. One of these fungi is called fusarium, and it gives rise to the condition called Fusarium Wilt; the plant looks droopy and lifeless and is usually doomed.

You may minimize the chance of such an infection by improving the drainage quality of the soil and by not wounding the roots or the stem near the soil. If you have to cut a good-sized root, it should be sealed with pruning paint. Lastly, keep the general health of the plant good.

GLOXINIA

If your friends have admired your gloxinia plant, and you wished you could give them similar ones, then you may be initiated into plant propagation. Take two or three central leaves for the purpose - outside leaves being old, and those just in the center too young. Shorten the stems if they are too long, and dip the ends in rooting hormone, such as Rootone. Insert the leaves in pots containing African Violet potting mix such as Black Magic.

A new plant will be formed and at its base a tuber is formed too. In a year's time you will have blooming plants to present to your friends.

DIG GLADS NOW

Now is the time to dig your gladiolus and dahlias. Clean them from soil, cut the tops to about two inches above the tuber or corm, dust with bulb dust, and store them in peat moss.

RHODODENDRONS

Rhododendrons usually have no root hairs, which are found so abundantly in other plants. These are single-haired appendages near the root tips. They absorb water. In Rhododendrons, absorption takes place by the mass of roots, which are near the surface. This is why the soil for them should be kept moist during summer months, and they should not be cultivated but should be mulched by leaf mold or peat moss.

Rhododendron and azalea both absorb nitrogen in ammonium form rather than as nitrate. Fertilize with ammonium sulphate or urea, which becomes available in ammonium form. Nitrate fertilizer in the soil can be changed into ammonia by certain soil organisms and then can be utilized by these plants.

Rhododendron lapponicum growing in northern Canada beyond the Arctic Circle and beyond the timber line, grows to 3 inches high. They live a long life: one plant was found with a 1 1/2 stem diameter, whose cross-section showed it was between 300 and 400 years old. On the contrary there are species in the jungles of eastern Asia which grow to 150 feet high.

Of course in our garden we do not want either of these species, but the medium-sized hybrid with a profusion of flowers.

AFRICAN VIOLETS

The rim of a common red clay pot is not easy on African violets. Salts tend to accumulate and this causes burning. There are special red clay pots for these plants which have glazed rims. If you already have a violet in the ordinary pot, you can protect it by lining the rim with aluminum foil.

Water which is passed through a water-softening process is not so good for African violets and other house plants. Take water from an outside tap and warm it to room temperature.

DR. AND MRS. R.E. MARLIN returned from Europe this summer on the S.S. Rotterdam. Dr. Marlin is opening an optometry office in the Rancho Shopping Center this week.

New optometry office to open at Rancho Shopping Center

Dr. Robert Marlin will open an office of optometry in the Carmel Rancho Shopping Center Nov. 4. Dr. Stephen Goff will join him later.

The doctor and his wife, Jacoba who is a native of Holland, are making their home on Monte Verde Ave. in Carmel. Mrs. Marlin is an artist and a poodle-breeder.

Dr. Marlin is a graduate of the Los Angeles College of Optometry. He was an army infantry instructor during the war and has practiced optometry for the past 14 years in Santa Ana, California.

He says he likes the cozy community of Carmel. He enjoys the smog free air and hopes to have time to sail and scuba dive. He and Dr. Goff, who will be moving here from San Juan Capistrano, will have the latest electronic equipment in their new offices.

Savings & loan companies to join

L.M. Tynan, president of Salinas Valley Savings-Loan Association, and H. P. Stevens, president of Palo Alto Savings and Loan Association, announced negotiations have been entered into for the merger of their two associations.

The resulting company, if the merger is approved by the stockholders of both associations, will then have locations in the counties of Monterey, Santa Cruz, Santa Clara, San Mateo and Alameda, with eleven offices plus a mobile branch.

Tynan and Stevens stated that the similarity of the two associations on operating procedures, income and the high quality of loan portfolio, makes the merger mutually attractive. They indicated that, in their opinion, the resulting association, because of increased size and scope of coverage, would be able to offer more extensive services to both the sav- ings and borrowing public.

We also waft spicy pumpkin cookies and crisp lace cookies with pecans and oatmeal flakes scattered through, with their own sweet perfume. At about four each Sunday afternoon that good old country kitchen chicken in the pot aroma fills the air preparatory for the candle light bit along about five and supper by the fire until eight. Mushrooms en creme too, and hot broth and waldorf salad and cranberry apple conserve and honey and raspberry butter with hot biscuits and coffee and mill keeper's pie or frozen mousse for dessert. Sunday nights a reservation is a must! The Keeping Room, 6 Pilot Road, Carmel Valley, 659-2512.

CV Community Center movies

"Two programs at 1:00 and 3:00 every Saturday ONLY 35¢ admission, for a Parents' Magazine/Legion of Decency Approved feature film! Adult supervision. Snack-bar with hot-dogs, candy, drinks, and ice-cream.

This is a COMMUNITY SERVICE put on for YOU, all that we ask is that you please COME or SEND YOUR CHILDREN, or tell someone you know of the movies! We only want to break even, but are having a hard time doing this with rising costs, and fair attendances.

Last month we had to pay film rentals, even though our projector broke down, but it is now operating correctly." - Kit Parker

ALL FEATURES IN COLOR

11/2 - "THE BOY TEN FEET TALL" starring Edward G. Robinson and Fergus McClelland in Technicolor and Wide screen. A ten-year-old English lad, homeless and penniless, begins a 5,000 mile trip from Port Said looking for his Aunt Jane in Durban, South Africa!

WINNER: Parents' Magazine Family Medal
Rated by the Protestant Motion Picture Council as "Outstanding."

Film Daily "10 Best Pictures of the Year" award!
Plus: A "LAUREL & HARDY" comedy.

11/9 - Jules Verne's "JOURNEY TO THE CENTER OF THE EARTH" starring Pat Boone, James Mason and Arlene Dahl. A delightful adaptation of the famous novel with impressive special effects.

WINNER Parents' Magazine Family Medal, and many other commendations.

Note: This picture runs slightly over two hours so we will start at exactly 1 and the second show slightly after 3 p.m.

We must have increased attendance, particularly on such films as JOURNEY TO THE CENTER OF THE EARTH and BOY TEN FEET TALL which cost our Youth Center more money to rent.

Local UNICEF gives to Biafra, seeks more aid

The Peninsula Committee for unicef has sent $300 to UNICEF headquarters for Nigeria-Biafra Relief, according to Harold E. Kren, Chairman.

This money came from Christmas cards purchased by Peninsulans over the past years he explained. Additional contributions are still badly needed, Kren said. They will be used for supplies of food and medicine for helpless victims of war...children and mothers trapped on both sides of the Nigerian conflict.

Contributions can be sent to Nigeria-Biafra Relief, c/o Monterey Peninsula Committee for UNICEF, Box 141, Monterey 93940.

CLUB... CALENDAR

● CV Women's Club

A luncheon at the Outrigger on Cannery Row is planned by the Carmel Valley Women's Club to be held in conjunction with their November meeting.

Mrs. James Ellis, program chairman, has arranged as the guest speaker, Dorothy Constann, AID, who will discuss Interior Design. Reservations will be accepted through Nov. 1 by Mrs. Ellis at 624-2981. For the baby sitting service, ladies are invited to phone Mrs. J. Warren Douglas, 624-2453.

Members are reminded to keep November 14 free for the tour of the Shillings Plant in Salinas. More later.

● Audubon Society

The local club will have a field trip to Chews Ridge Nov. 2. Visitors welcome. Bring lunch and meet at either of the following places: Rancho Shopping Center Safeway parking lot at 9 a.m.; or Jamesburg turnoff from Carmel Valley, Arroyo Seco Road, 10 a.m.

Those not wishing to drive their own cars will be transferred to other cars where space permits.

● Sierra Club

A group of more than 30 Sierra Club members from Monterey County travelled to Santa Barbara for a unique cruise, recently. They boarded the schooner "Swift" and crossed the 25 mile channel to Santa Cruz Island.

It was a happy outing, but more important, it gave the passengers a glimpse of what shortly (it is hoped) will be our nation's next National Park.

This expedition has provided the main theme of Ventana Chapter Conservation Committee next meeting to be held in Brey Hall, Carmel High School, at 7:30 tonight.

Colored slides taken by many admirers of the islands, ...rugged cliffs, mountains up to 2400 feet, sea elephants, distinctive wild fox, wild pigs...all are shown.

New developments in efforts to prevent oil exploration in Monterey Bay will be discussed.

Members and the public are invited.

● Community Chapel Guild

The Carmel Valley Community Chapel Guild will hold a potluck luncheon Wednesday, Nov. 13 at 12:15.

The guest speaker, Rev. H. Lusk, will discuss "Operation Shoestring". The public is welcome and child care will be provided.

Helen Ludwig featured at MP Museum of Art

Helen Ludwig will be featured in the November exhibition at the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art. On display will be works in a variety of media, including watercolor, collage, sumi ink paintings and scrolls, plus a few examples of her ceramic sculpture.

Born and educated in the East, Miss Ludwig has lived in San Francisco for the past 10 years. She is married to V.J. McGill, Professor of Philosophy for San Francisco State.

She has exhibited in many Eastern museums and galleries, and her work is shown on the West Coast at the Maxwell Galleries in San Francisco. She has also been honored with an exhibition at the Palace of the Legion of Honor.

Also on exhibit during November will be work by six members of the Montalvo Sculptors, associated with the renowned Villa Montalvo, Saratoga, California (estate of the late Senator James Phelan, who left the property for the perpetuation of the Arts). Included will be pieces in stone, wood, and marble by Jean Swan Gordon, Rae Johnson, Faye Isaak, Martha Bowen Boyer, Fraser Stewart and Clyde Prusman.

Members and guests are invited to meet the artists at a preview reception on Saturday, November 9, from 5 to 7. The exhibit will continue through December 1.

A BIG DEAL for the FAT CATS

but it's BAD NEWS for homeowners and DISASTER for renters!

VOTE NO ON PROPOSITION 9

IF PROPOSITION NO. 9 WERE ADOPTED:

- Enormous property tax savings to large landowners and speculators would have to be made up by drastically increased income and sales tax on homeowners and renters.
- California's school system would be thrown into chaos.
- Bonds for construction projects totalling more than $5 billion dollars—authorized by the voters but unissued—could not be sold. This represents a loss of more than half a million jobs for California workers.

HOW

are the great majority of Californians HURT by The Tax Trap Initiative?

A practical method of replacing property tax revenues lost under Proposition 9 would be a combination of these State tax increases, as calculated by State fiscal experts:

- (1) Doubling existing State Income Tax
- (2) Doubling existing State Sales Tax
- (3) Imposition of 5% Sales Tax on Food

This shifting of tax burdens would have the following effect on a family of four:

|                       | HOMEOWNER                             |                                           | RENTER                                    |  |
